Watch Together Meeting 7:00 p.m.
Pastel Demonstration by Laurinda O'Connor

Dear Members and Art Appreciators, you are invited to our Watch Party for our November demonstration on Zoom. Look for the email invitation with details. No charge for members and voluntary guest fee of $5 for our Scholarship.

Next Meeting is November 10th at 7:00!

Laurinda O'Connor, pastel artist and teacher, is our featured professional artist for our November meeting.

Members and guests who attend the Watch Party will be automatically entered into a drawing for the pastel below, donated by the artist to benefit our Scholarship.

Cindy Mootz Artist of the Month for November

“Art has always been my creative outlet. My career was in occupational therapy, but I've always made sure to take art classes whenever I could. Over the years I've studied watercolor, oil, and acrylic painting at the Brookline Arts Center, Danforth Museum, the Mosesian Center for the Arts and South Shore Arts Center and was introduced to monotype printmaking through Brookline artist Gema Phillips. I've also taken and taught workshops in gelatin printmaking. I enjoy working in all mediums.

I was a member of the Dedham Square Artist Guild for its eight-year run, which was a wonderful experience. I learned so much from my fellow artists and it helped me grow as a professional. I became a member of the Dedham Art Association a couple of years ago and am grateful for the opportunities it has given me. I'm also a member of the Monotype Guild of New England and the West Roxbury Art Association. I've exhibited my work throughout the New England area.

Artists that have inspired me include John Singer Sargent, Winslow Homer, Edgar Degas and Henri Matisse. I love playing with composition and color and use the world around me as my inspiration!”
